Charting your leadership journey

First, you are privileged.

Every leadership journey is different

Expectations of people around you

Your teachers want you to be a good boy/girl,

meaning
academic focus and staying disciplined.

Your parents want you to do well

-meaning
studies plus sociable.

Your friends want you to be theirs only

- want loyalty
and trust

Leadership is not a degree.

it is not grades/marks,
it is not a title,
it is not power,
it is not money.

Leadership is the ability to make a positive difference to people and society.

No leader is perfect.

A chalkboard background with a thought bubble containing text and a person's head at the bottom. The thought bubble is drawn with white chalk and contains the text "Let's learn from a few greats". Below the main bubble are two smaller, empty thought bubbles. At the bottom of the frame, the top of a person's head with dark hair is visible.

Let's learn from a few greats

Courage

Courage to speak up.

Too much courage is 'arrogance'

Communicate clearly and succinctly

To communicate well, you need to listen too

Embrace opponents

A close-up, shallow depth-of-field photograph of a large group of people holding hands in a circle. The focus is on the hands in the foreground, which are of various ages and skin tones, suggesting a diverse group. The background is blurred, showing more hands and arms extending into the distance. The lighting is bright and natural, likely outdoors. The overall mood is positive and supportive.

Life is short,
build friendships.

The enemy?

One of you!

The background features a series of concentric, curved bands in shades of blue and white, creating a sense of depth and movement. A bright, glowing light source is visible on the left side, casting a soft glow across the scene. The overall aesthetic is clean, modern, and futuristic.

The world is your stage, dream big.
